How does USIIS help?
USIIS helps families who frequently move or have several health care providers keep track of their immunizations. It helps make sure children get their immunizations on time for school or child care. It also helps health care providers know which vaccines your family has received and avoid giving vaccines they may not need due to lost or missing records. You can even get a printed copy of your immunization records.

What type of information does USIIS provide?
USIIS records the name, birth date and address of the person, types of vaccines and the dates they were given, and the provider or clinic who gave them.

How does it work?
Your health care provider or clinic must enroll in the USIIS program as a registered USIIS provider. Immunization records can come from any of the following sources:

- birth records filed with the Utah Department of Health
- a participating health care provider when a family member receives any immunization
- health plan or public health program.

Is the information kept confidential?
Yes. USIIS complies with all federal and state laws regarding patient privacy. Only authorized members, such as health care providers, health plans, schools, early childhood programs and public programs have access to USIIS. Members must sign an agreement and follow strict policies regarding confidentiality and security.

How will this information be shared?
Immunization records will only be shared with authorized members such as those listed above, unless you choose to withdraw from USIIS.

If you want to withdraw any family member from USIIS, you must submit a withdrawal form to the Utah Immunization Program. This form is available at the USIIS web site: www.usiis.org.

Can I get immunization information from USIIS?
Yes. You must be a parent or legal guardian for the child whose record you are requesting or of legal age for your own record. Complete a “Release of Information” form located on the USIIS website and return it to the Utah Immunization Program by mail, fax or email.
