

What is USIIS?

USIIS is a statewide immunization information system operated by the Utah Department of Health that stores electronic immunization records for Utah residents of all ages. USIIS combines immunizations a person receives into a single record, even if the shots were given by different healthcare providers.

USIIS helps ensure you and your children get the right vaccines at the right time—no more and no less.

How does USIIS help?

USIIS provides you with a copy of your child's or your own immunization record. This can help you with requirements for school, child care, employment, or travel. USIIS helps your healthcare provider know which vaccines are due and when. It helps ensure your child is up to date and does not receive the wrong vaccine or the same vaccine twice.

What type of information does USIIS provide?

USIIS records contain the following information: name, date of birth, gender, contact information, parent or guardian's name, vaccination information including where the vaccine was administered, and medical reasons if the person should not get vaccinated

How does it work?

Participating healthcare providers view and submit data to USIIS. Additionally, USIIS receives information on births in the state of Utah. Participation by healthcare providers in Utah is optional. Your healthcare provider or clinic must register as a USIIS provider. Schools and child care organizations may also register to access USIIS.

Is the information kept confidential?

Protecting the privacy of individuals is of paramount importance to USIIS and the Utah Department of Health. USIIS is password-protected and accessible only by authorized users; its data is encrypted. Organizations participating in USIIS must complete a registration process and authorized users must agree to privacy and security terms.

How will this information be shared?

The only people who can see an individual's immunization record are those enrolled in USIIS and providing service to the individual. This includes healthcare providers, organizations required by law to record immunizations for enrollment (such as schools and licensed child care centers), and organizations providing services on behalf of the individual (such as health plans).

If you want to withdraw any family member from USIIS, you must submit a withdrawal form to the Utah Immunization Program. This form is available at the USIIS web site:

Can I get immunization information from USIIS?

You must be a parent or legal guardian to obtain the immunization record of a child. If you are of legal age you may request your own record. To request a record complete and return an "Immunization Record Request" form located on the USIIS web site.
